

The Joyful Home Cook By Rosie Birkett

"Pressestimmen 'Rosie Birkett is not only one of the most fantastic and honest cooks you will ever come across; her knowledge, detail and level of commitment to food is the best I know.' Tom Kerridge. 'In all the years I've known Rosie, I don't think I've met anyone with such an infectious personality when it comes to the love of food as her and typically she has compiled a book of outstanding quality and beauty that should be in everyone's kitchen.' Simon Rogan 'Like any great cookbook, this one propelled me into the kitchen and made me want to cook from it immediately. Rosie's recipes are as eclectic and modern as they are a celebration of her British culinary heritage - from cobnuts and elderflower to wild garlic chicken pie and Sourdough crumpets. It's also a very beautiful book, both to read and to look at, one you want to take to the sofa and pore over, hatching plans for future meals, and absolutely delivering on its name: it made this home cook feel very joyful indeed.' Mina Holland, The Guardian 'Packed full of interesting and delicious recipes to cook for your loved ones. Rosie has such a fantastic was of bringing true finesse to everything she does - without it ever alienating any home cook. I feel so inspired by her recipes, and this is the perfect cookbook to bring pure joy into any kitchen.' Laura Jackson 'What a delightful book! It had me licking my lips, with lots of lovely recipes for any time of the day.' Rachel Khoo 'A book full of big, vibrant flavours - and overflowing with love for good food and seasonal produce. Truly joyous.' Felicity Cloake 'It's a gorgeous book. Vibrant and so full of life. You can feel Rosie dragging you into the kitchen by the hand - and I really love how summery, seasonal and coastal it is too.' Meera Sodha 'Rosie is always hunting out exciting new ingredients. She is an inspirational cook and definitely one to follow. Rosie is the real deal of Deal.' Simon Stallard
